Presenting to the People of Richmond and Virginia

The Kingsbury Inner Player.

The first Strictly High-Grade Player Piano ever introduced by The Cable Company, the leaders and largest manufacturers of Pianos and Organs in the world.

The Kingsbury Inner Player embodies the most advanced ideas in practical construction of the Combination Player and Piano. Not one item to make it absolutely perfect has been neglected.

It is the exact size of the ordinary Piano, combining the same high degree of tonal perfection that marks the entire Cable Line.

It is ready on the instant to play either by hand in the old way or to use the music roll.

The mechanism is so simple that a child can operate it.

It uses standard perforated music rolls, and any kind or class of music is available.

Write to-day for catalogue, price list and descriptive matter. Visit our warerooms and examine the instrument—play on it.

and the Governor's staff, memorial associations and guests.

Line of March.

The column will move at 2:30 P. M. east on Grace Street to the Capitol Square. Military and veterans will enter the Square by Grace Street gate. Mounted escort and carriages will move to Capitol Street. Horsemen dismounted and occupants of carriages will enter the Square from Capitol Street.

Miss Eleanor Blackford Smith, of Fauquier county, and grand niece of Governor Smith, will unveil the monument.

Description of Statue.

The pose of the bronze statue represents Governor Smith grasping a sword and at the same moment diverting himself of his cloak. He has freed his right hand and arm from the cloak in order that he may seize the weapon, while with his left hand he is about to complete the divestment. The drapery let fall from the right shoulder nearly reaches the plinth in the rear of the figure. The enlarged figure follows the idea of the sketch model made by Mr. W. L. Sheppard from the selected drawing. It carries the original motive with perfect exactness and with a technique which reflects great credit on Mr. Sievers, who did the clay.

It is interesting to know that Mr. Sievers formerly resided here and was first a pupil, then an instructor in the Mechanics Institute.

He went to Italy to complete his education as a sculptor and gained distinction in the school at Rome. After his return he did a good deal of modeling for the St. Louis Exposition.

The pedestal of the statue was designed by Mr. W. Cary Sheppard, and the stone work done by Mr. Albin Netherwood.

The monument is a present to the State from members of the Smith family.

Inscriptions.

The inscriptions upon the four sides of the blue granite pedestal are chiseled into the stone, and filled with gold leaf. They read as follows:

(Front face of pedestal): WILLIAM SMITH, Virginia. Born September 6, 1797. Died May 15, 1857. 1836-40. Member of Virginia Senate. 1842-49. Governor of Virginia. 1841-3. 1853-1861. Member of United States Congress. 1861-62. Member of Confederate States Congress. 1862-3. Brigadier-General of Confederate States Army. 1863-4. Major-General Confederate States Army. 1864-5. Governor of Virginia.

(Second face): A man of strong convictions, bred in the strict States' Rights School. He yielded paramount allegiance to his Mother State, and maintained, with fearless and impassioned eloquence, in the Congress of the United States.

The sovereignty of Virginia. When the storm of war burst, "His voice was in his sword." (Third face): Though past three score, he entered the military service as Colonel of Virginia Infantry. And rose by sheer merit to the rank of Major-General.

At First Manassas, Seven Pines, the Seven Days' Battle, Cedar Mountain, Second Manassas, Sharpsburg, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville and Gettysburg. His fiery, yet "cheerful courage," was everywhere conspicuous, and the only fault imputed to him by his superiors was "a too reckless exposure of his person."

Three wounded at Sharpsburg, he refused to leave the field, and remained in command of his regiment until the end of that sanguinary engagement.

(Fourth face): Called from the army to guide again the destinies of this Commonwealth, during 1864-65. He displayed such energy, resource and unshaken resolution as drew to him the heart of the whole Southern people.

Tried by both extremes of Fortune, he proved equal to the trial. And died as he had lived, A Virginian of Virginians.

PASSING THROUGH DAYS OF FINALS

Elaborate Exercises Arranged for Closing of Woman's College Session.

DR. FRISSELL THE SPEAKER

Principal of Hampton Institute Will Address Graduating Class of Richmond College.

At this season of the year the interest of all the young people and many of the older ones, too, turn toward commencement and college finals. Richmond always has its full quota of interesting graduating exercises and this year plans especially attractive have been arranged for the public commencement of the various colleges and institutions of learning located in this city.

Several of these have already closed for the summer, with fitting exercises attendant upon the beginning of vacation. Among those, whose work for the year is done, are the Medical College of Virginia, the University College of Medicine, the Union Theological Seminary, the Richmond Training School of Expression, the Richmond School of Expression, the Virginia Mechanics' Institute and the Training School for Nurses at Virginia Hospital and the Retreat for the Sick.

Woman's College Finals.

Probably the most elaborate programme for commencement this year has been prepared by the Woman's College, the exercises of this school embracing the five days from June first to fifth.

Examinations at the college began Friday and will close June first. On the evening of June first, the commencement opens with the annual concert in the college chapel. Saturday evening, June second, the art class will give its annual reception.

The Rev. W. W. Savage, of Churchland, Va., will preach the baccalaureate sermon at the Second Baptist Church on the evening of June third.

Monday, May fourth, will be class-day, the exercises taking place on the college campus. The class-day officers are as follows: Orator, Miss Bessie Wilson; Historian, Miss Ruth Blanton; Prophet, Miss Myra Ackles; Tree Orator, Miss Carrie M. Patrick; Bonfire Orator, Miss Jennie Chory; Vaudeictorian, Miss Maude Puckett; Toastmistress, Miss Uldine Valden.

On Monday also, the annual alumnae luncheon will take place at Guth's restaurant, when many prominent alumnae will be present. Miss Belle Willingham will be toastmistress for the occasion, and the class of 1906 will be present.

The grand public finals will take place in the Academy of Music on the evening of Tuesday, June the first, when diplomas will be awarded to the forty-five young ladies of the graduating class, and medals will be presented for the finest essay and the most excellent poem. The Rev. Dr. W. J. Young, of Centenary Methodist Church, will deliver the annual address to the graduates.

The graduating class this year is unusually large. The officers are Miss Evelyn Martin, president; Miss May Sheppard, vice-president; Miss Ethel Pickett, secretary; and Miss Louise Thomason, treasurer.

Richmond College. At Richmond College the usual baccalaureate sermon will be preached in the college chapel by the Rev. Dr. R. P. Johnson, of New York, on the evening of Sunday, June 10th. Monday evening at 8:15 o'clock the class-day finals will take place in the chapel. Mr. Percy Flippin, president of the class of 1906, presiding and introducing in turn the class orator, prophet and historian.

Tuesday at 2 P. M., the annual alumni luncheon will be held, reunions of the classes of 1901, 1896, 1891 and 1886 being the special feature of the occasion. In the evening of the same day the installation of former Governor Andrew Jackson Montague, as dean of the Law Department, will occur in the chapel. Great interest attaches to the ceremonies.

The regular graduating exercises will take place on Wednesday, the last evening of the commencement. Diplomas, honorary degrees and medals will then be awarded. It is interesting to note that in the class of 1906, one of the largest and best the college has ever had, there are six young ladies, whose standing has been of the highest and whose diplomas will be the reward of several years of arduous study. Principal H. B. Frissell, LL. D., of Hampton, will make the address to the graduates, whose standing has been of the highest and whose diplomas will be the reward of several years of arduous study.

After the exercises the usual reception to the graduates will take place in Library Hall.

The commencement exercises of the Richmond High School will take place in the college chapel on Wednesday, the last evening of June 13th. The speaker for the occasion will be Mr. J. D. Eggleston, Jr., Superintendent of Public Instruction. These exercises are always followed with much interest by the people of Richmond, who are of the capacity of the centre to the utmost. The programme for the evening is as yet incomplete, but will include several songs by the well-drilled High School chorus, which has become a feature of the yearly exercises.

The closing evening of the commencement will be Wednesday, June 14th. The junior class will give a reception to the senior class in the school parlors.

At McGuire's University School the exercises will be extremely simple, consisting only of the delivery of diplomas on the evening of Monday, June 11th. In the school building at Belvidere and Main Streets. About fifteen boys will go out from this school to the various universities and colleges of the country.

Commencement exercises at Nolley's School will also be simple, consisting only of the awarding of prizes, medals and distinctions. Examinations will be completed on June 5th, and the exercises will take place on the evening of June 11th in the school building, No. 107 North Pine Street. Five boys have completed the university course here and will leave the school to enter colleges next year.

Dr. Mitchell to Preach. Dr. McDaniel preaches at the First Presbyterian Church this morning and Dr. S. C. Mitchell will fill the pulpit at 8:15 P. M.

A letter, which is appended here, has been sent out proposing a union Sunday school rally Tuesday evening:

Richmond, Va., May 25, 1906.
To the Superintendent and Pastor:
Thinking that great good would come from a rally of Sunday school workers, where we may hear what is being done in the Sunday school work, we have arranged for such a rally Tuesday night, May 29th, 8:15 o'clock, in the Central Y. M. C. A. Hall. The programme will consist of three stirring talks:

Rev. Robert W. Forsyth, pastor St. Paul's Episcopal Church—"Fellowship; What It Gives."

The purpose of the meeting is simply to get together, become acquainted with what is going on, and catch, as we may, suggestions for pushing the work in our own Sunday school. Will you please give prominent mention, both in your Sunday school and church, to this rally and urge all officers, teachers and adult scholars to attend? We believe it will be the largest rally of Sunday school workers in the history of Richmond.
